

ZAC FUNARI

Zac moved to Tallahassee in 2013 working as a supervisor for Chick-Fil-A on FSU's campus for Seminole Dining. He graduated from Flagler College in 2012 and waited to move until she graduated in 2013. She attends grad school at Florida State University in the Educational Psychology program. Zac wanted to join the Navy so Zac left Chick-Fil-A to pursue that. He was accepted into Navy Officer School in 2016 and while there was called to military Chaplaincy, which required a major decision be made. He had to decide whether to stay in the Navy for 4 years then begin the path to becoming a Chaplain, or leave Officer school and pursue it immediately. Zac ultimately decided to leave and pursue it immediately. Zac joined Engage Church in April 2016 and currently serve as the Production Team leader and also co-lead a men's small group for Engage. He ended up back at Chick-Fil-A on campus in the position He was passed up for when He left and left to pursue work ministry. He is thankful for the grace and mercy Jesus provides and everything He has taught me and continues to teach me. Zac is passionate about serving God and His people and helping anyway he can.